HIGH SCHOOL STORIES

The Literary Society gave their regular three week entertainment last Friday afternoon, and it was pronounced one of the best this season. This was the first entertainment this semester, and also the first over which the new president, Elin Ironman, presided.

One of the features of the afternoon was the funny story contest between some of the boys. The winner was to be rewarded with a whole pie made by the Domestic Science department of the High School.

All the stories were original and greatly appreciated, one especially produced such a roar of laughter among the students that it is worthy of publication. Arthur Cochran was responsible for the narrative and it ran something like this:

"Johnny lived in the city and had gone to school 'till his health was failing and upon the advice of the doctor his father sent him to his grandfathers farm in Connecticut. The boy seemed quite willing to go and consequently his father was greatly astonished when after two weeks, he was awakened one night by the ringing of the door bell and upon opening the door Johnny walked in. 'Why are you back here?' his father demanded, but the youngster would not at first tell.

After some coaxing and threatening on the part of the parent Johnny burst out, 'It's like this dad, the first week I was there they killed a hog and put it on ice and we had pork to eat three times a day for a week. The next week they killed a sheep and put it on ice and we had mutton every day for a week, and this week the hired man died and they put him on ice and I came home.'

Arthur took the pie, which he proceeded to get on the outside of, while his competitors looked on with an evil eye.

The senior class held a meeting Monday noon and chose their class day and took a vote on whom should give the Baccalaureate service. Rev. Brown of the Presbyterian church was chosen by a majority of two votes.

No class exercises has as yet been decided upon and will not be decided definitely until some time in March. A committee was appointed by Mr. Bailey to decide upon the class flowers and the class poem.

The senior class is now composed of 22 members, 10 boys and 12 girls. This is one of the largest classes that ever graduated from this school and is certainly a credit to any community of this size.

The Annual which is to be given out by the Senior class will be started immediately and will be printed some time before the school year is out.

The Junior class gave a party in the school house Saturday evening and enjoyed a very good time, as they managed to keep the time and the date a secret to the other classes and were not interrupted by any attempt to get their oats.

The Pedagogy class have begun their teaching course, which is to last at the rate of one period a day for fifteen weeks.

The Midget basket ball team will meet the Junior department of the Payette Y. M. C. A., next Thursday evening at Payette, and the local boys expect to show as good results as the other High School team did at that place last Friday.

The High School basket ball team will meet the fast Weiser team in the Ontario Hall next Friday evening and the game promises to be one of the best here this season, as the local boys are determined to keep their no-defeat record clean and the Weiser team is just so determined to break that record.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

The pastor will be in his pulpit next Sunday with a report from the Layman's Missionary Conference. Topics for the day:

11 A. M. "The Decaying Church On The Brink of Ruin."
7:30 P. M. "A Happy Man."

The public is invited to these services.

Preaching at Mallett at 8 P. M.
D. E. DANKER, Pastor.

METHODIST NOTES.

At the rally last Sunday the spirit of the congregation was clearly favorable to the new church enterprise. A meeting was then called for Monday night which was well attended and after a thorough discussion the board of trustees appointed a building committee consisting of Edmund Butler, A. L. McDowell and Jasper Burns.

The subscriptions have started out well and there is every reason to believe that the enterprise will meet with the support that it deserves.

There has been an old debt bothering for some time, but that was wiped out and the society is free to branch out and do larger and better work.

We appeal to the citizens to take pride in this enterprise which will be a great commercial asset as well as moral.

Every one is invited to the regular services next Sunday.

C. C. PRATT, Pastor.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Judging by the interest manifested at the first of the special meetings, we expect good results as the usual increase of attendance comes.

Rev. J. B. Story of Parma, will preach until Monday, when Rev. M. E. Dunn of Spokane, Wash., will begin and continue next week. Meeting each evening at 8 p. m. Good gospel sermons in which all are welcome.

W. N. BROWN, Pastor.

Rev. W. N. Brown will occupy the pulpit in Parma next Sunday, while Rev. J. B. Story continues the special meetings here in the United Presbyterian Church.

JORDAN VALLEY NOTES.

A. F. Taylor, of the government agricultural department, was here last week making a fight on the jack rabbits and gophers.

Fritz Miller went to the Railroad last week in the interest of the bank. W. G. Thompson was brought to the hotel here with a slight attack of pneumonia.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McBride on the 5th. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Guy O. Parks on the 16th.

Richard Hart has recovered from his recent illness and gone home. Joe Weir was laid up several days from a horse falling on him.

The stockmen are well pleased at the break up in the weather and feel that they will have plenty of hay to go through the winter.

The Grange Hall was the scene of one of the best local talent plays ever pulled off at that place, last Friday evening when the people in that community gave their entertainment in the form of a minstrel show. The hall was crowded with spectators and the money taken in was enough to pay for the new stage recently put in at that place. This stage is as good as that of the Dreamland Theatre in Ontario and the grange have something to be proud of, in the accomplishment of the young people in that community for being able to pay for this improvement with money earned by a play so well appreciated as that given last Friday.
